

Your job, in one page.

You are the first person a shop owner meets from TCG Express. Read this once before your first shift.

What TCG Express is

A delivery app made for IT and tech equipment — servers, racks, POS units, laptops, AV and security gear. A business posts a delivery job with the full details, drivers bid their own price, and the customer picks. Live tracking, proof of delivery and invoicing are all in the app.

It is not a consumer parcel app. Our customers are businesses that move expensive equipment and are tired of general courier apps damaging it or refusing it.

What you actually do

- Walk your assigned zone and visit IT shops, electronics retailers and small offices.
- Hand over a flyer and explain the offer in one or two sentences.
- Help the owner scan your QR code and register on the spot. This is the goal.
- Log each scan in your daily sheet. Move on politely if they are busy.

No cold selling, no quotas, no pressure. If someone says no, thank them and leave. A bad interaction costs us more than a missed sign-up.

Your pay

Hourly

$12

per hour worked

Per sign-up

each completed app registration

Paid

Weekly

by PayNow, every Friday

Shifts are 4 hours, weekdays, confirmed a week ahead. Sign-ups are counted from your personal QR code, so every registration you bring is tracked to you automatically.

What we give you

- A lanyard badge with your name and your personal QR code
- A TCG Express t-shirt
- Flyers for your zone
- A short briefing before your first shift

What to say.

Short is better. You have about eight seconds before someone decides whether to listen.

THE OPENER

"Hi — do you ever send out equipment? Servers, monitors, POS units, that kind of thing?"

If yes, keep going. If no, thank them and move on — they are not our customer.

THE ONE-LINER

"We're a new Singapore delivery app built only for IT equipment. You post the job, drivers bid, you pick the price. Your first ten deliveries are free."

THE ASK

"Takes thirty seconds to register — can I show you? Just scan this."

Answers to the four questions you will get

They ask	You say
"How much does it cost?"	Drivers bid on your job, so you see the price before you accept it. Nothing is fixed and there is no subscription.
"What's the catch with the free deliveries?"	None. We load ten free deliveries onto your account. No contract, no minimum, no expiry date.
"How is this different from Lalamove or Grab?"	Those are general courier apps. Ours is built for equipment — you state size, weight, floor level, lift access and whether you need a helper, so the driver arrives prepared.
"Do you deliver overseas?"	Not yet. Local Singapore delivery now, freight forwarding is planned for the fourth quarter.

Never say these

- Do not promise a specific delivery price, delivery time, or insurance amount.
- Do not compare us to a competitor by name in a negative way.
- Do not sign anyone up on their behalf or enter their details for them — let them do it on their own phone.
- Do not offer discounts beyond the ten free deliveries. If they push for more, take their card and say someone will call Daily sheet.

Fill this in as you go, not at the end. Photograph it and send it to your supervisor before you leave the zone.
